CRUISE SPOTLIGHT

Spring Tulips Star On Holland Cruise

Wave good-bye to snow and slush and say hello to fresh and lush. When Mother Nature gets dressed for spring, there's no better place to view the magic than in the world's tulip capital, Holland.

Ambassador offers an April river cruise through the Netherlands and Belgium that's sure to please your springtime senses. Embarking from the Dutch capital of Amsterdam on the Katharina, passengers have a day of historic awakening in the once-demolished city of Rotterdam. Stories of war, destruction, and miraculous regrowth wind through Rotterdam just as canals and cobblestone alleyways twist through nearby Delft, a picturesque medieval port town.

A fresh breeze plays in your hair as it sets into motion the 18th-century windmills in Kinderdijk. Then, it's on to Neeltje Jan's tidal wave dams, Bruges's sacred blood-bearing chapel, Brussels's signature statue, and much, much more.

But the big treat comes when the Katharina pulls into Lisse, a town that is every gardener's paradise. Crocuses, hyacinths, daffodils, and, of course, the quintessential tulips, are just a few of the beauties to be seen in Lisse's 800-acre Keukenhof flower garden. With a corn mill, sculpture trail, special children's route, and seven themed gardens, Keukenhof is a blooming spectrum of beauty. Visitors can even take a bit of the paradise home by ordering bulbs to be delivered in time for fall planting. ■

Tulip-time cruise on the Katharina is set for Apr 16-26. See page 95, Sep/Oct Journey, for complete information.
