STEPHEN THOMPSON SPEAKS FOR BUTLER UNIVERSITY SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS WEEK

INDIANAPOLIS – Stephen Thompson, associate professor and sexual assault services coordinator at Central Michigan University will speak at Butler University for Sexual Assault Awareness Week at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 6 in Jordan Hall Room 141.

His speech, "Hostile Hallways: Sexual Aggression in College," will deal with the awareness and avoidance of sexual assault. Thompson, author of No More Fear, is known as one of America's leading experts on sexual aggression.

He became interested in assault avoidance as a graduate student at Indiana University after several women were raped on campus. A martial arts black belt, Thompson was called upon to educate the public with a sexual assault avoidance program.

Since then, Thompson has devoted himself to studying sexual aggression by talking with offenders, victims, police officers and psychologists, and then presenting the information to the public through lectures and presentations. He has given more than 500 presentations to college, high school, corporate and community audiences, as well as appeared on Good Morning America and The Sonja Friedman Show.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information contact: 317/940-9262.
